September 2009 – July 2010

Welcome to an exciting season of Music at Milton Keynes City Church. Once again we play host to a glittering array of top international soloists and chamber musicians. We also continue our commitment to showcase the very best musical talent in our local area. Significant composer anniversaries are marked both in special concerts and in our ongoing monthly series, Musical Milestones. Great Masters of the Twentieth Century feature in our Thursday series, Exploring Music. The Cornerstone Chamber Orchestra offers superb programmes of Baroque and Romantic music. Meanwhile Summer 2010 brings a veritable Choral Festival with concerts by Polymnia. The Clerks and The Sixteen as well as our own Choirs. We hope you will join us regularly to enjoy fine music-making in the lovely ambience and beautiful acoustic of Milton Keynes City Church.

Michael Grant made his television solo debut on BBC1's Blue Peter at the age of 12 before gaining a scholarship to the Royal College of Music and Guildhall School. Winner of numerous prizes and a BBC Young Musician semi-finalist, he is now forging an international career. Swiss-born Orfeo Mandozzi was a multiple prizewinner at Julliard School, New York and Vienna University where he was awarded degrees with 'summa cum laude' and Mention of Honour. He has appeared in the world's finest concert halls (Carnegie, Wigmore, Lincoln Centre, Vienna Musikverein) and made several acclaimed recordings. Carolin Clipsham gained the prize for highest final recital marks at Guildhall School before accepting a scholarship to study at the Banff Centre in Canada. She has appeared at international festivals around the world, recorded for Radio 3 and made a television documentary playing Chopin's original piano. Tonight's recital features the beautiful romantic trio of Karl Fröling alongside great works by Beethoven and Brahms.

HENRY PURCELL (1659-95)

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Purcell's range was wide. In a remarkably short life he composed everything from bawdy catches to impassioned prayers, intimate chamber music to ceremonial court odes, lively dances to elegant laments. His command of melody was exceptional for its freedom, its readiness to fashion rhythm from the sound and sense of words. He raised the English anthem, accompanied by the new sound of a modern string orchestra, to a pinnacle of achievement. Above all, he wrote 'Dido and Aeneas', one of the first and greatest of English operas.

MOZART: Larghetto from Clarinet Concerto in A

BEETHOVEN: Sonata in C minor (Pathetique)

WEBER: Fantasy on Themes from 'Der Freischutz'

Music at the City Church needs to raise additional funds for the purchase of new equipment (not least two new concert piano stools costing between them the best part of £1,000) and for refurbishment to piano and organ to maintain their high quality as recital instruments. Today's special concert features outstanding senior musicians from Milton Keynes Music Service, several of whom are about to take up or are working towards places at the UK's top conservatoires and universities. Special guests include 16 year old Ben Westlake, a finalist in BBC2's Classical Star 2007 and John Fisher, a frequent prizewinner in MK Festival of the Arts who represented Bucks in the National Federation of Music Festivals 75th Anniversary celebrations. Please support the event, bring all your friends, help to raise funds for the Music Department and enjoy some wonderful music! (There will be a minimum admission charge, but you are invited to give more if you feel able. We would also welcome donations from those unable to attend.)

MENDELSSOHN:

Quartet in D Op 44, No 1

"I rarely jump up and down and wave a flag but I was very impressed by a young Quartet playing Haydn and Schubert today. I did not blink much as I was fixed in watching and hearing the feelings and sensitivity of the music they played... and no better than Cornerstone for their playing."

[Peter Smith, email to Cornerstone, Sept 08]

The Alea Quartet is one of England's most accomplished young string quartets. Originally formed at the Royal College of Music in 2003, it won the Connell and Sacconi prizes, represented the RCM at the British Library's festival, 'Mozart – Then and Now', recorded Hurlstone's Quartet in E minor and appeared at Aberystwyth International Festival. The Quartet has just won the Shuttleworth Scholarship to study at Canterbury University with the Maggini Quartet, and will shortly play Mendelssohn's Octet with them in Canterbury Festival. Tonight's concert features a compelling 75th birthday tribute to Maxwell Davies, plus anniversary composers Haydn and Mendelssohn at their very best.

7th June 1945 was a momentous day for Britten and English music: The emphatic success of the premiere of 'Peter Grimes' stamped Britten as the most gifted musical dramatist since Purcell, and began a new 'golden age' of British opera. The following years were amazingly prolific, with such works as 'Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra', 'St Nicolas Cantata', 'Spring Symphony' and 'Prince of Pagodas' (influenced by Balinese sonorities of the Far East) appearing alongside more outstanding operatic scores – 'Albert Herring', 'Billy Budd' and 'Turn of the Screw'.

7pm Sparkling Wine Reception 7.30 Gala Concert

8.45 Buffet Supper 9.30 Cabaret

Music, Magic and Merriment offers a complete evening of high quality musical entertainment. After a Sparkling Wine Reception guests enjoy a Gala Concert mingling instrumental and vocal music from the baroque, classical and romantic eras (including opera), and exploring a wide range of moods and emotions. A delicious hot supper is then served against the ambient background of a gentle piano interlude. To end the evening, a sparkling Cabaret sequence offers upbeat dance numbers, theatre songs and romantic ballads from popular music's 'Golden Age'. A bar is available throughout the evening. The incomparable Guyathrie Peiris, fresh from an acclaimed Australian tour, is joined this year by virtuoso trumpeter John MacDomnic and versatile pianist Michael Keep. It promises to be a memorable evening. Parties of six or more are invited to reserve a table. Please note that, while late bookings may be considered, we can only guarantee to provide supper for bookings made by Monday 19th October. Please advise in advance of any special dietary requirements.

“Grace Francis is a phenomenon. Technically there seems to be nothing she can't play. But more than that, there is a force in her, a compulsion that gives her performances uncommon fire and energy.” [David Cairns, Senior Music Critic, Sunday Times]

Grace Francis studied with Irina Zaritskaya at the Royal College of Music, where she gained the Chappell Gold Medal, the highest award for pianists. She was winner of the Negrada Heferer Award and EPTA International Competition in Zagreb. Grace's numerous recitals in the UK have included regular appearances at the Barbican, Purcell Room and Wigmore Hall. Her repertoire is wide but she has a special affinity with the Romantic works of the 19th and early 20th centuries.

HANDEL: DIXIT DOMINUS

MENDELSSOHN: STRING SYMPHONY IN C

HAYDN: NELSON MASS

THE CORNERSTONE CHAMBER CHOIR & ORCHESTRA

Conductor: Adrian Boynton Solo Trumpet: John MacDomnic

This very special concert celebrates the achievements of all four of this year's special anniversary composers. Purcell's Sonata for Trumpet and Strings is followed by the extraordinary brilliance and daring of 'Dixit Dominus', which Handel wrote in Italy before coming to English shores. Then comes the wonderfully inventive String Symphony in C, the finest of several such works that Mendelssohn wrote in his teens while absorbing the influences of Handel and Haydn. And to end, one of Haydn's late, great works, the most splendid of all his Mass settings. Don't miss this wonderful celebration, marking the climax of our music-making in 2009.

HANDEL: (ii) Mature Years

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

In 1711 Handel composed the first Italian opera written specially for an English audience. For the next 30 years he became immersed in the ups and downs of operatic activity in London, producing over 40 works. Then, as public interest in opera declined, he brought fresh creative energy to oratorio, producing more than 20 magnificent works rich in choral drama and orchestra colour. Tonight we savour great moments from the opera 'Rodelinda', 'Partenope', 'Ariodante and Alcina', and oratorios 'Israel in Egypt', 'Samson', 'Solomon', 'Semele' and 'Messiah'. Other important works of the mature years include the Concerto Grossi Op 3, the Organ Concerti and 'Music for the Royal Fireworks'.

BENJAMIN BRITTEN                      (iii) The Final Years

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

The two outstanding works of the early 60s were the opera 'A Midsummer Night's Dream' and the 'War Requiem', written to celebrate the consecration of the new Coventry Cathedral: they marked a new peak in Britten's esteem with the general public. Another important element of this final period was his artistic partnership with Rostropovich which produced the Cello Sonata, Cello Symphony and three solo Cello Suites. And there were two more great operas – 'Owen Wingrave', written specially for television, and 'Death in Venice', which provided Peter Pears with his last and most challenging role.

Marina Nadiradze's playing has been compared to that of the great Mitsuko Uchida. She gained the Postgraduate Diploma and MMus degree, both with distinction, at the Royal Scottish Academy of Music and Drama. She took 1st prize in the highly prestigious LASMO Staffa Award and Silver Medal in the Scottish International Piano Competition, 2001. She has performed widely in Europe and the Far East, and made an acclaimed Wigmore Hall debut in 2007. Recently she appeared with Milton Keynes City Orchestra.

“Fine playing which really caught the attention” [The Times]

Felicity Vincent was a prizewinner at the Royal Academy of Music before joining the Halle Orchestra, and later the Israel Philharmonic and Toronto Symphony Orchestras. She has given numerous recitals on both sides of the Atlantic (recently Chicago Cello Festival) and performed all the Bach Cello Suites in London. She was singled out for recommendation by Making Music in the 2005-06 season. Oliver Davies was until recently Piano Professor and Head of Performance History at the Royal College of Music. His performing career has covered a wide range, including several British premieres. He has partnered Murray Perahia, James Galway and the Chilingirian Quartet, broadcast frequently and made five CDs with clarinettist Colin Bradbury. Tonight’s recital reflects the anniversaries of Mendelssohn and Schumann and features the evocative Pfitzner Sonata, which has one of the most eloquent slow movements in the entire repertoire.

ARNOLD SCHOENBERG (1874-1951)

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Schoenberg stems out of the Viennese past: Beethoven’s Quartets, Brahms’ piano writing and the orchestral sonorities of Bruckner and Mahler are his models. His early Romantic works – ‘Verklarte Nacht’ and ‘Gurrelieder’ - are deeply tinged with the Wagnerian idiom. ‘Die gluckliche Hand’ and the extraordinary ‘Pierrot Lunaire’ abolish the distinction between dissonance and consonance, leading to the revolutionary serial work of the 1920s – ‘Serenade’ and ‘Variations for Orchestra’. In his final (American) phase, tonal elements co-exist with serial technique in the brilliant Piano Concerto and cantata ‘A Survivor from Warsaw’, while works such as ‘Suite for Strings’ and the impressive ‘Kol Nidre’ abandon serialism and return to the tonal style of the composer’s youth. Join us as we reveal the greatness of one of the most influential figures in the history of music.

THE CORNERSTONE CHAMBER ORCHESTRA

Michael Keep (piano)                      Adrian Boynton (conductor)

This magnificent orchestral feast opens with the finest of Beethoven's four overtures for his opera 'Fidelio'. The noble heart of the unjustly held prisoner positively leaps for joy as he is released in a blaze of triumph and light. Dramatic gesture, 'Sturm und Drang' rhetoric, beautiful folk-like melody, assertive rhythm and picturesque orchestration are some of the qualities that have endeared Grieg's Piano Concerto to generations of pianists and concertgoers, and earned the composer the sobriquet 'the Chopin of the North'. We are delighted to welcome back brilliant young soloist Michael Keep, who give an unforgettable performance of Rachmaninov's Paganini Variations here in 2006. The Symphony No 8 in G is one of Dvorak's most refreshing, joyous works, abounding in Czech feeling. The spirit of improvisation hovers, guiding the composer into byways far from the classical norms. The finale conjures both the peace of the countryside and fun of the fair and ends in an uninhibited romp.

ALBAN BERG (1885 – 1935)

ANTON WEBERN (1883-1945)

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Testimony to Schoenberg's powers as a teacher shines forth in the music of Berg and Webern. It was Berg's achievement to 'humanize' the abstract procedures of serial technique and to reconcile them with expressions of feeling and emotion. We hear his early String Quartet, the extraordinary 'Altenberg Songs', 'Lyric Suite', the beautiful Violin Concerto (which quotes J.S. Bach) and the compelling operas 'Wozzeck' and 'Lulu'. Webern's music is rooted in classical (and earlier) forms, but in his preoccupation with timbre and colour he belongs very much to the Romantic tradition. We enjoy his amazing Op 1 Passacaglia, the sensitive vocal writing of 'Das Augenlicht', movements from three fine quartets and the Symphony Op 21, inspired by the sights and sounds of the Austrian Alps.

SCHUMANN: (i) Early years to 1841

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

If a single composer had to be selected to represent the features of Romanticism, Schumann would be a splendid choice. Images of literature pervade his music, he was preoccupied with self expression, he was a miniaturist with a strong lyrical and harmonic gift, and his own life embodied Romantic events in abundance. Tonight we explore the outstanding piano works of the 1830s – ‘Abegg’ Variations, ‘Papillons’, ‘Carnival’, ‘Fantasiestücke’, ‘Etudes Symphonique’, ‘Kreisleriana’ – the great song cycles ‘Frauenliebe und leben’ and ‘Dichterliebe’, and the joyous ‘Spring Symphony’.

A former choral scholar at King’s College, London and the Royal Hospital, Chelsea, Philippa Murray won a scholarship to study with Emma Kirkby at Dartington International Summer School and now holds a postgraduate scholarship at Guildhall School. She sings regularly with leading ensembles such as Da Chiese Baroque and the Armonico Consort, and last year made her operatic debut in Mozart’s Magic Flute at Bridgewater Hall. Former St Matthew’s Northampton chorister and Queens College Oxford organ scholar Daniel Turner has sung solo roles with London Handel Players and recently made his debut with Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra at the Sheldonian, Oxford. He has collaborated with James Bowman in Britten’s ‘Canticles’ and pianist David Owen Norris in Elgar’s songs. Join us for what promises to be a delightful lunchtime programme for Valentine’s weekend.

Prague-born Libor Novacek graduated from the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in 2004 with highest honours and was immediately selected by the Young Concert Artists Trust. He went on to take top prizes in international competitions leading to solo recitals and concert performances in prestigious venues throughout the world. In February 2007 his third CD (of Liszt) was Editor’s Choice in Gramophone Magazine and in June he was awarded a Diploma d’Honneur at the 33rd Liszt International Record Grand Prix in Hungary. Tonight’s compelling programme culminates in the original version of Mussorgsky’s epic cycle.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

In terms of both creative accomplishment and influence Stravinsky stands as the dominant figure of the 20th century. His music went through several changes, often startling at the time, but revealing an inner consistency. The early years in Russia find him absorbing influences from his compatriots in Symphony No 1, 'Scherzo Fantastique' and 'Fireworks'. 1910 sees the beginning of his international career with Dyagilev's Ballet Russes in Paris, and the premieries of 'The Firebird', 'Petrushka' and 'The Rite of Spring'. Then come the years of exile in Switzerland during which he completed 'The Solider's Tale', 'Symphonies of Wind Instruments' (in memory of Debussy) and the great ballet score 'Les Noces'.

"So accomplished technically, he was able to put away all thoughts of difficulty and concentrate on making the music speak its message through his agile fingers."

The great Russian virtuoso returns with a superb all-Chopin programme built around the four great Ballades. Ardakov's recital and concerto performances have taken him all over the world in recent seasons, including Carnegie Hall New York, Coluseo Hall, Portugal (where he performed three romantic concertos in a single evening!) and Symphony Hall, Seattle where he received a standing ovation from the 1500 audience.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

1842 was for Schumann a remarkable year of chamber music which included a Piano Quintet, Piano Quartet and three String Quartets. Several large-scale works followed – the cantata 'Paradise and the Peri', Piano Concerto, Konzertstück for 4 Horns and Orchestra, Cello Concerto, the great opera 'Genoveva' and the evocative 'Scenes from Goethe's Faust'. Join us for a superb evening of Romantic riches.

Admission £4 (student £1) at the door

Fairy's Kiss', Concerto for Piano and Wind, Violin Concerto and the Brandenburg-inspired 'Dumbarton Oaks'. Also from this period come the great opera-oratorio 'Oedipus Rex' and the awe-inspiring Symphony of Psalms. From his American residency (1939-52) we have the Symphony in C, ballet 'Orpheus' and opera 'The Rake's Progress', and from the final years of his life a group of fine choral works using serial techniques. Join us for a most remarkable musical journey.

BACH: MASS IN B MINOR

THE CORNERSTONE CHAMBER CHOIR & ORCHESTRA

Leader: Philippa Barton

Conductor: Adrian Boynton

Bach's Mass in B minor, arguably the greatest of Christian musical monuments, is the choice for our traditional Palm Sunday concert. That the composer completed the work apparently without any hope of hearing it performed clearly illustrates the incredible striving for wholeness, fullness and perfection that amazes us in Bach's music. The Mass draws on a wide variety of forms and techniques, some of them belonging to an earlier era, others looking forward to the next. The 'Et Resurrexit' bursts forth with Easter joy, the 'Sanctus' transports us to Heaven itself. The cumulative effect of the whole is magnificent.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Suk's early works were influenced by Dvorak, and the Czech legend of Raduz and Mahulena with which he strongly identified – it drew from him his most radiant, tender, earnest and abundantly melodic music. He later developed a more complex harmonic and polyphonic style, articulated by his precise aural imagination and superb craftsmanship as an orchestrator. His pupil Martinu composed prolifically in all forms and travelled widely, becoming a figure of international standing. His symphonies, concertos, operas and ballet scores are full of rhythmical energy and evocative colour.

One of the most respected artists of his generation, Malaysian-born Bobby Chen burst on to the scene in 1996 with a sensational season of concerts, which included a British tour with Lord Menuhin in a performance of Beethoven’s Triple Concerto and a Royal Festival Hall recital as part of the South Bank Festival. Since then he has become a household name, performing in leading venues in the UK and across the world. He broadcasts regularly on Classic FM and BBC Radio 3, and has several fine CDs to his name, including an acclaimed ‘Live at Wigmore Hall’.

SCHUBERT: DIE SCHONE MULLERIN

Schubert’s magnificent cycle of 20 songs tells, by symbolizing human emotion in terms of nature, a story in which the poet (i.e. the singer) is protagonist: he arrives at the mill, falls in love with the mill-girl, enjoys happiness with her, feels anger and jealousy when she turns to another man, and dies. The babbling of the brook is heard in many songs, and there is much other nature imagery, designed to reflect the emotions of the words. Ian Priestley returns to perform this great work with Adrian Boynton following his beautiful ‘Winterreise’ cycle two years ago. Priestley’s versatility has brought him leading roles with Scottish Opera, Carl Rosa, Sadlers Wells and Buxton Festival as well as a host of oratorio and recital engagements.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

“Those days I spent in the villages among the peasants were the happiest of my life. In order really to feel the vitality of this music one must, so to speak, have lived it.” [Bartok]

It was Bartok’s mission to reconcile the folk melody of his native Hungary with the main currents of European music. In the process he created an entirely personal language and revealed himself as one of the major artists of the century. From his Piano Quintet, Op 1 and early Nationalistic tone-poem ‘Kossuth’, we trace his musical development through the Violin Concerto No 1, Romanian Dances, Dance Suite, Piano Concerto No 1,

String Quartets Nos 1 & 2 and a remarkable cycle of theatre pieces: 'The Wooden Prince' (ballet), 'Duke Bluebeard's Castle' (opera) and 'the Miraculous Mandarin' (pantomime). Admission £4 (student £1) at the door

*In January 1933 Fred Felton called a newspaper reporter to his factory to tell him: 'We are going to form a band and we are going to aim high'. Over the past 75 years the GUS Band has established a national reputation for outstanding music making. In 2007 the Band was voted 'Most Entertaining Championship Band' in the National Mineworkers Brass Band Championships. In 2008 they were finalists in the National Brass Band Championship of Great Britain at Royal Albert Hall and in 2009 they won through to the finals at the British Open Championships in Symphony Hall Birmingham. WILLIAM SCHUMAN (1910-92)

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Barber's music is in the European traditional line rather than specifically 'American'. Conservative in idiom, it is melodic, eloquent and brilliant. His lyricism is best heard in the opera 'Vanessa' and in 'Knoxville: Summer of 1915' (soprano and orchestra) and his romanticism in 'Dover Beach', the Cello Sonata and Symphony No 1. His Piano Sonata, first played by Horowitz, is a bravura work. Schuman's symphonies are a major feature of American culture. His music has a firm melodic basis, with strong contrapuntal elements and motor rhythms, some derived from jazz. Join us for this celebration of American riches.

*This sparkling Baroque programme features the extraordinary skills of two remarkable young soloists. Elspeth Robertson won the Wind Prize at the Junior Royal Academy of Music before gaining a scholarship to the Royal College of Music in 2008. She was a prizewinner at the National Eisteddfodd in Wales and semi-finalist in BBC Young Musician of the Year. Cristian Grajner-Desa became the youngest ever overall winner of the Bedfordshire Music Festival at the age of 10, and went on to be voted Bedfordshire Young Musician of the Year. He was awarded a scholarship to the Royal Academy of Music and, still only 14, is now studying with one of the Academy's leading professors. A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Unlike Stravinsky, Bartok did not write works after models from the past, but rather created new structural and technical devices of his own. These are in evidence in the outstanding middle period quartets (3, 4 & 5), the great Piano Concertos 1 and 2, the strongly neo-classical 'Cantata Profana', Violin Concerto No 2 and his most perfectly formed symphonic piece, 'Music for Strings, Percussion and Celeste'. The brilliant orchestral colouring of the late works, written in America, have undoubtedly played a part in bringing them great public favour; they include the 3rd Piano Concerto and Concerto for Orchestra.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Tonight we pay birthday tributes to three of our most prominent British composers. Peter Maxwell Davies, like Britten, has enjoyed writing for particular performers, and his wide-ranging imagination has devised striking sounds and textures much inspired by the Orkney Islands where he has made his home. Nicholas Maw is perhaps our finest 'modern romantic' whose music, while contemporary in some of its procedures, remains attached to traditional forms and outlook. Birtwistle's early works were stark and ritual in form and expression, but he has gradually developed a more organic technique in which ideas grow and evolve, marked by a genuine lyrical impulse and strong poetic feeling.

THE HOURS: A 24 hour collage of sound and live performance from

THE CLERKS (director Edward Wickham) with

THE CHOIRS OF THE CITY CHURCH (director Adrian Boynton)

"The Clerks... one of the most inventive music groups around" [Musical Opinion]

Celebrating worldwide traditions of Worship:

Building on the considerable success in 2008 of their innovative concert programme In Memoria, The Clerks present The Hours – a sound installation that breaks all the usual concert rules by lasting 24 hours. People are often familiar with the sacred music and daily devotions of their own culture or religious upbringing – the celebration of mass, the call to prayer. But how many have experienced the many other hourly rituals of faith and meditation that take place throughout the day across the globe? The Hours brings together these devotional hours from across nations and faiths by highlighting the musical forms these devotions take. Combining pre-recorded and live music, its multi-voiced soundscape reveals some surprising links between different religions as well as celebrating the wonderful diversity of the world's many faiths. Incorporating prayers and meditations that may be recorded during the presentation itself, the performance thus evolves as the hours go by.

The outline of the presentation is as follows:

Friday 9pm: 'The Hours' opens with COMPLINE sung by the Choir of the City Church

Friday 9.30pm: The Pre-recorded 'panels' begin, connected by recitation of the Psalms and the polyphony of Tavener, Sheppard and other Renaissance masters

Friday Midnight: Church closes, but 'The Hours' continues 'symbolically' through the small hours

Saturday 8am: Church opens as 'The Hours' continues to evolve

Saturday 9am–11.30: Pre-recorded panels alternate with live presentations by members of faith communities in Milton Keynes

Saturday 12.00: LUNCHTIME PRESENTATION OF RENAISSANCE and CONTEMPORARY CHORAL REPERTOIRE by The New English Singers and Choir of the City Church, directed by Adrian Boynton

Admission £5 (conc £4.50, child £1) at the door

Saturday 1.30pm-4.30: More pre-recorded panels, interspersed with live presentations from local faith communities
 Saturday 5.30pm: 'The Hours' is incorporated into regular Saturday Mass, with Renaissance polyphony for Introit, Offertory, Communion and Recessional

Saturday 7pm – 9pm FINAL PRESENTATION by THE CLERKS. As the final panel takes its course, live elements will be introduced and coalesce into a full performance of TAVENER'S MISSA GLORIA TIBI TRINITAS

Tickets for final presentation £15 (conc £10) telephone 01908 246486, email Cornerstone.music@tesco.net or The National Centre for Early Music 01904 651485, www.ncem.co.uk (Admission at other times free – except lunchtime concert). A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

"If I were to name the composers whose works are the most perfect embodiment of the Hungarian spirit I would answer, Kodaly." [Bartok]

*While Bartok travelled in Europe, Kodaly remained in Hungary and continued his preoccupation with nationalistic folk elements. Perhaps because of this his style is more tonally orientated than Bartok's, and possesses far greater melodic orientation. Wonderful choral works and songs dominate his output, including 'Psalms Hungaricus' (written for the 50th anniversary of the unification of Buda and Pest), Budavasi Te Deum, Missa Brevis, and the extended motet 'Jesus and the Traders', a veritable masterpiece. His finest orchestral works include 'Peacock Variations', Concerto for Orchestra, Symphony in C, the famous 'Harry Janos' Suite (extracted from the opera), and brilliant 'Dances of Galanta' Chamber works feature two string quartets and an epic Sonata for Solo Cello. After 30 years of world-wide performance and recording, The Sixteen is recognized as one of the world's greatest ensembles. The Sixteen's total commitment to the music it performs is its greatest distinction. A special reputation for performing early English polyphony and masterpieces of the Renaissance is drawn from the passions of conductor and founder Harry Christophers. The Sixteen are 'The Voices of Classic FM', TV Media Partner with Sky Arts and Associate Artist of the Southbank Centre. They were recently featured in the highly successful BBC4 Television Series 'Sacred Music'; a second series has been commissioned for BBC2 in 2010. The Sixteen have toured throughout the world, appeared at the BBC Proms and made 74 CD recordings. Tonight's a cappella programme celebrates the glorious English sacred music of the pre and post Reformation. At the centre is John Sheppard's 'Media Vita', which is a staggering achievement not only in its sheer size but also in its expression which is at times overwhelming.

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

*One of the most outstanding and at the same time accessible composers of the 21st century, James Macmillan writes compelling music which reflects both his Scottish roots and his deeply held Catholic faith. Mark Anthony Turnage's eclectic style derives from many sources, including jazz and rock. He enjoys writing for musicians he knows well, so his music invariably reflects a close collaboration between composer and performer. German-born composer Detlev Glanert is renowned for the unashamed Romanticism of his scores: Mahler, Schubert and Shostakovich are his idols. EXPLORING MUSIC:      20th Century Masters

HINDEMITH (1895-1963)

A talk illustrated with fine CD recordings by Adrian Boynton

Hindemith's early works are superb examples of neo-classical style, using Bachian counterpoint, Baroque forms and sparkling motor rhythms. His later idiom is softer, more lyrical and smoothly tonal, with flexible structures and a mellower kind of continuity. Tonight we compare his early Kammermusik concertos with the mature concertos of the 1940s. We explore the great operas 'Mathis der Mater' and 'Harmony of the World', the ballet 'Nobilissima Visione' (based on the life of St Francis of Assisi) and the beautiful Requiem 'When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloomed'. We also savour rare sonatas for double bass and tuba!

Admission £4 (student £1) at the door

Following studies at the Wells Cathedral and Purcell Schools, Emily Heathcote won scholarships to the Royal College of Music and Guildhall. As a soloist and chamber musician she has performed in Germany, Italy, Poland, Holland, Japan and throughout the UK, including appearances at the Royal Opera House and Purcell Room. She has recently been offered a place on the prestigious Britten Pears Young Artist Scheme. Jason Anderson made his concert debut here at MK City Church at the age of 12. As a student at the Purcell School he performed for the Prince of Wales at Buckingham Palace before winning a place at the Royal College of Music. He won the BBC Guardian

Proms Young Composer of the Year competition, and his music has been played at the Royal Albert Hall and on Radio 3. Jason and Emily have recently given recitals at the National Portrait Gallery and Bristol's Colston Hall.

FRIENDS AND PATRONS OF MUSIC AT THE CITY CHURCH

You can support 'Music at the City Church' by becoming a 'Friend of Music'. Friends enjoy discounts on the cost of midweek evening concerts. We recommend a minimum annual donation of £18, or £30 for a couple. To become a 'Patron' a donation of £50 per person is suggested. The names of patrons are listed in the programmes of our major concerts. Please send your donation to Mrs J Boynton at MK City Church, 300 Saxon Gate West, Milton Keynes, MK9 2ES, marking the envelope 'Friend' or 'Patron' and writing your address on the reverse of the cheque. Cheques payable to Church of Christ the Cornerstone. A 'Friend' card will then be issued to you. If you are a tax payer it would be helpful if you could complete a form which allows us to gift aid your donation - these are available at concerts or on request from the above address. If your Friendship has lapsed (i.e. if it is a year or more since you last subscribed), we hope you will take this opportunity to renew your subscription.

Thank you
